“It gives me a great joy to celebrate the Divine service in this holy church today, to see you, dear Vladyka, and the parishioners once again, and to share with you the celebration of the Feast of the Intercession of the Most Holy Theotokos.

“We have arrived in this city to take part in the preparation of the Pan-Orthodox Council. This work raises numerous questions and doubts among the Orthodox Christians. What kind of Council will it be? What kind of decisions will it take? What if they will change the calendar or introduce some novelties? I want to assure all of you that there won’t be any novelties: no other calendar will be adopted, and the Orthodox Church’s teaching on fasting will be confirmed. The Council’s work should be thus organized that no decision would be taken to the detriment of this or that Church. If any of the Local Orthodox Churches will not give her consent to a proposed decision, it will not be taken. All decisions at the Council will be made by consensus.

“It will not be the Eighth Ecumenical Council, as some believe. It will be a Pan-Orthodox Council. We hope that it will be held in the atmosphere of peace, accord, like-mindedness and love. The preparatory work we are doing now is to ensure peace and accord among the Churches, so that there would be no disagreements and conflicts.”

Greeting the DECR chairman, Archbishop Michael of Geneva and Western Europe (ROCOR) emphasized the importance of the 5th Pan-Orthodox Pre-Council Conference which takes place in Chambéry and wished its participants success in their work aimed at strengthening the unity of Orthodoxy.
