The message reads:

"I greet you with all my heart in Christ who has been born.

Now there have come true the ancient expectations of the peoples who from old awaited the coming of the Saviour of the world, the Messiah and King of glory. Today we hear the solemn words of Gregory, great among the Theologians: 'Christ is in the flesh – with trembling and gladness rejoice: with trembling on the occasion of sin, with gladness on the occasion of hope' (Homily 38. On the Theophany or on the Nativity of the Saviour).

In the Nativity of Christ people have been granted the joy of hope in redemption accomplished in Christ's resurrection, and we are called upon to share this joy with other people by proclaiming the 'good news of the kingdom to all the nations' (Mt 24:14)."

The message contains wishes of the ever strengthening and abundant grace of the Divine Infant who has been born.
