The Patriarchal award was given to Metropolitan Anthony in consideration of his zealous archpastoral service and on occasion of his 40th birthday.

“I congratulate you, Vladyka, on this high award and thank you for your work,” the Primate of the Russian Orthodox Church said addressing the DECR chairman, “I’ve known you since your adolescent years, seeing you go from strength to strength. I can say that the Lord has given you much, and what the Lord gives does not come from us; it is a gift from God. But how to use this God’s gift is up to us. You have embraced, cultivated and used it in many different circumstances of your life, first and foremost, in your important and demanding service to the Holy Church. I thank you for that and wish you help from God and many years of life. May you continue your fruitful ministry. God save you!”

Metropolitan Anthony cordially thanked His Holiness Patriarch Kirill for the high award.
